Still Speaking is the monthly newsletter distributed to members and friends of First Congregational United Church of Christ of Charlotte. We welcome inside and outside comments, creative writing, illustrative photos/art, and articles. We appreciate feedback; please send comments to the Editor @ Editor@uccCharlotte.org. Article deadline is the 15th of each month.

About the cover: On Palm Sunday, March 29 there were four toddlers in attendance at the same time: Anh Rendell, Blake Carabajal, Aury Carranco, and Iris Falk. Two went downstairs to the nursery while two went upstairs to the wide open playroom next to the Godly Play creative tables. The challenge is to get them to play with one another. Aury likes to dance and kiss! Blake is okay with dancing but he isn't sure how he feels about kissing yet.

PASTOR'S POST

Pastor Adam Droscha

We Can Only Confess Christ

Both in weekly worship and Bible study during this 2026 Lenten season, we reflected on several stories of blindness, sight, and Jesus healing the blind. In John 3 we learned about a Pharisee named Nicodemus who, because of his privileged position in the religious establishment, could not see the truth of Jesus and what he was saying. In John 4 we learned about the Samaritan woman at the well who came to see who Jesus was through open dialogue despite their many ethnic, religious, and political difference.

In John 9 we not only learned about the man born blind who Jesus healed, but about the Pharisees who were too blinded by their own authority and agendas to see who Jesus was despite this miracle. In Matthew 20 we learned that Jesus' last act before entering Jerusalem at the beginning of Holy Week was to heal two blind men abandoned on the side of the road. In Matthew 21 we learned that after clearing the temple in Jerusalem of money changers and crony vendors, Jesus began restoring the sight to the blind who were brought to him in the temple. Apparently we've missed some of Jesus' lesser known titles: 'Jesus the optometrist,' 'Jesus the eye surgeon.'

And now we are in the season of Easter. We've read about many of Jesus' miracles, including restoring sight to the blind. But this is the big miracle – Jesus resurrecting from the dead, the one the whole of our tradition and faith clings to for hope. What are we – the inheritors, followers, ambassadors, and proclaimers of these stories – supposed to see now? What are we supposed to witness?

I was with my pastoral mentor, the Rev. Dr. Shawnthea Monroe, a couple of weeks ago with our clergy cohort, and we were discussing our recent sermon topics, one of which was the story of the man born blind in John 9. Echoing the testimony the blind man restored to sight gave to the inquiring Pharisees about Jesus, Rev. Monroe said succinctly, "I cannot explain Christ; I confess Christ." (Snaps fingers. Chef's kiss. Shouts of, "Amen!") I don't know if Rev. Monroe coined that phrase; she's a thoroughly and confidently protestant student of the theology of Karl Barth, so she may have picked it up from others in Barth-ian camp. However she came upon that phrase, "that'll preach," as we say in the preacher/sermon game. We cannot explain Christ; we can only confess Christ.

This is what I think we as people of the Jesus way need to see, witness, and proclaim: we can only confess to our experience in Christ. To some the word "confess" might come across as too religious, or conservative. To some it might sound too close to Catholic 'confession,' as in coming to a priest in a big, wooden confessional cabinet to confess sins and receive pardon. To others it might sound too close to reformed theology (hence the Karl Barth reference above) in which there are the foundational confessions such as the Heidelberg Catechism or the Westminster Confession, or confessing the five pillars of reformed theology (scripture alone, Christ alone, grace alone, faith alone, glory to God alone). None of these are what I mean, or what I think are at work in 'we cannot explain Christ; we can only confess Christ.'

In the story of the man born blind in John 9, he is literally put on trial by the Pharisees because Jesus healed him. Remember, these were not simply religious leaders as we often think about them today. The Pharisees were interpreters of the law, and they were very concerned about adhering to the law as they understood it. And Jesus healed him on the Sabbath, no less, which was quite the transgression of the law. So they interrogate the formerly blind man, even going so far to summon his parents for their testimony, and they ultimately "drove him out" (John 9:34), meaning they excommunicated him from the synagogue, which was a form of serious social ostracizing, because they were dissatisfied with his confession – his testimony, his post statement of what had happened.

What was his confession? Simply that he was blind, but after his encounter with Jesus he could see. That's not much of an explanation, but it is a confession of experience.

Many of us may not have the experience of being put on trial in a courtroom, or in church settings (Yes, there are still denominations and traditions, even churches, that have trials). But many of us have the experience of accusative inquiry, or the feeling of being interrogated for our perspective and what we believe. As a members of a more progressive church, some of us have the experience of being put on the spot for what our church stands for, whether it's being LGBTQ affirming, denouncing Christian nationalism, or being more theologically and spiritually open – allowing everyone to believe according to their conscience and what God has revealed to them. Similarly, many of us have a rather simple experience and answer (confession) for why we feel, believe, and stand for what we do: 'Jesus helped me see. Christ is the light by which I see and am healed of my blindness.' Cling to that confession, friends, and confess it loudly this Easter and beyond. You may not have all the 'right' words, or perfectly cohesive and succinct theological explanation for this Jesus way you follow. Take a cue from the man born blind in John 9; often our experience is enough. We cannot explain Christ; we confess Christ. Happy Easter, friends.

United Church of Christ GMP issues statement following US/Israel attack on Iran, calls on elected officials to 'reject war'

On Saturday, February 28, the United Church of Christ's General Minister and President/CEO, the Rev. Karen Georgia Thompson issued a statement condemning the bombing of Iran by the United States and Israel, and urged people of faith to continue to call on elected officials to reject war.

For the Spirit God gave us does not make us timid, but gives us power, love and self-discipline. 2 Timothy 1:7

Hegemonic power is on full display in our world. Authoritarianism is on the rise along with a collective amnesia as leaders of nations lurch down paths of violence and war that have been traveled before with consequences of death, trauma, and hatred against neighbors.

Absent in these days are higher virtues, holy virtues of love and restraint, and the sacredness of the power of the Holy Spirit to act in love and kindness as we seek justice for all. Instead, power which is flexed is the unholy trinity of deceit, domination, and destruction.

The bombing of Iran by the United States and Israel, with diplomatic talks ongoing and progressing toward the stated aims, is the epitome of this evil and is strongly condemned.

The United Church of Christ calls on the United States and the Israeli governments to bring to an end the dropping of bombs which is killing children and innocent persons.

We call on Christians to act from the power of God with courage and a love that rejects fear of the powers and principalities of our day that would have us cower to hegemonic power.

We call for an end to the abuse of government might that is poured out on people who are not the ones making decisions yet bear the brunt of the ensuing violence, casualties of actions they do not support.

We urge people of faith to call on leaders to return to diplomatic efforts and to reject war as a tool for peace.

We pray for a lasting peace, a deep peace which is more than the end to violence and brings about a just world with flourishing for all, remembering also in our prayers other parts of the world where wars and civil unrest persist.

Giver of life, how you must grieve at the callous infliction of death and destruction, the easiness with which people choose the path of violence when you have shown us a better way through your love for all humankind. We remember the words of the prophet Jeremiah, who said, "They have treated the wound of my people carelessly, saying, 'Peace, peace,' when there is no peace. They acted shamefully; they committed abomination, yet they were not ashamed; they did not know how to blush." In these moments, we cry out for peace, while leaders who do not know how to blush choose bluster, bombast, and bombs.

We pray for your intervention and a settling of your Spirit on the hearts of those which are now set on the path of domination: turn them back to the path of life. We pray for your intervention in the midst of our fear, that we persist in your truth with courage as we seek peace and justice for all. Protect those who are now in harm's way and send your healing spirit to each one afflicted by acts of violence. Show us a way where there appears to be no way, a peace where there is now no peace, a path to restoration of community and a just and lasting peace.

Amen.

February Giving Tree: We collected for our Spring Shoe Boxes: On March 19 we assembled 70 shoe boxes and delivered them to Siren/Eaton and Eaton Clothing and Furniture to be distributed to their clients.

March Giving Tree: Loose Change Offering: As of this writing we have collected $780.79 from the loose change collection plus an additional $200 from Brenda Wood's insurance company. Thank you to everyone who participated in this. We are looking in to a grant from Homeworks (Tri County Electric Cooperative) from their Round Up program to help us with Loads of Love funding.

April Giving Tree: We will be collecting new 1-2 man tents and new or gently used, clean sleeping bags. We are hoping for 20 each. We will store them here at the church for our homeless folks stopping in asking for help. Please see Ramona's article for suggestions as to where you can purchase them from.

Nordic Fire Festival: This went well. The folks appreciated the free cookies. We collected $33 for Walk for Warmth. Outreach added $67 so $100 will be donated to the Walk for Warmth program.

Community Dinner: On March 4 we hosted the Community Dinner (at the request of the Methodist Church). We served 38 inhouse and 9 take outs.

Dessert Auction: This is coming April 10. Proceeds from this auction all go to Eaton Clothing and Furniture Center to help them carry on all their good works of helping those in need. See article on page 16.

Loads of Love: Our next one is April 18. If you would like to help with this, please let Mary Normand know. 515-231-6647 or davidnormand@att.net

Home and Business Expo: This is April 18-19. We will have a table there with free cookies and free books. We need lots of cookies/savory treats donated for this. They must be individually bagged/wrapped. We also need workers. Sign up sheets will be on the credenza in the Bess Fulton room and the back of the Welcome Card on Sundays.

APRIL GIVING TREE

Ramona Kime, Outreach Team

Single-person tents & sleeping bags

Outreach is collecting 1- and 2-person tents and sleeping bags to offer to homeless folks who come to the church needing help.

Many inexpensive smaller tents are available online from Home Depot, Walmart, Lowe's, and Dunham's, ranging from $17 (Home Depot) to $40 (Dunham's) with Walmart's and Lowe's prices in the middle. Amazon tents tend to be more expensive. Of all the stores called, Walmart is the only one that had a 1-person tent ($33) in the store.

We're also collecting sleeping bags, both new and clean gently used.

Walmart has sleeping bags in the store, ranging from $20 to $60 and more. Here, too, there are many more options available online. Prices vary a lot, though, depending on how heavy the sleeping bags are and how well they insulate a person in cold weather: Home Depot, $20 to $80; Amazon, $25 to $50; Lowe's, $32 to $100; Dunham's, $35 to $120.

Thank you for 'Being the Church' and for helping our church help the homeless.

ART CORNER

Sandra Field, Art Ministry Team

CHANGE: The Art Ministry team regrets to announce the cancellation of the 2026 Easter Egg Hunt. In lieu of the egg hunt, Easter baskets will be handed out during Godly Play.

THANK YOU to everyone who helped write notes for, contribute to, and fill the bags for our Shut-Ins. Many hands make light work. Many hearts send love.

Candle Light Dinner Friday, April 24, 6:00 pm

In hopes of encouraging warm days and sunshine, the Art Ministry Team chose a tropical theme for the 2026 Candlelight Dinner. Feel free to wear your Hawaiian floral prints and grass skirts if you have them!

Sign up on the back of the Sunday Welcome Card or on the sign up sheet on the credenza in the Bess Fulton Room.

Women and Men's Retreat: Seeing Through the Eyes of Love Saturday, April 25, 9 am to 5 pm

Continental Breakfast and Lunch provided

Sign up on the back of the Sunday Welcome Card or on the sign up sheet on the credenza in the Bess Fulton Room

Donation: $15 for the retreat.

Prayer Shawl Project

Prayer Shawl Ministry continues to meet first and third Saturdays in the Lounge near the yarn wall. Mostly we enjoy fellowship of friends and welcome anyone who would like to join us starting at about 8 am and continuing until we finish talking. We create shawls in the style of the national project initiated in 1998 by two graduate students of Hartford Seminary in Connecticut. If you would like to learn to create with yarn, either knit or crochet, come join us for a lesson, or for fellowship.

NEW!! As a project supporting Chris Reist-Rush and the Honor Flight veterans out of Mid-Michigan, during the month of April we will be working on yarn gifts of red-white-blue patriotic color prayer shawls. Honor Flight veterans are presented with handmade, patriotic gifts - often called Quilts of Valor or Honor Quilts - designed to provide comfort, warmth, and recognition for their service. These 36" x 45" (minimum) cotton lap quilts are crafted by volunteers, featuring red, white, and blue colors, and are frequently presented during trips to memorials. You are welcome to work on these on your own or join us as we arrange one group project quilting afternoon led by Deanna Rendell. April 3, 1 pm to 7 pm, Annex Large Meeting Room.

Contact Amy Krizek (mom_krizek@hotmail.com or 517-652-1579) for details and to be a part of this project.

POCKETS OF PRAYER

Prayer Shawl Ministry

Good afternoon!

I just wanted to send a personal note of thanks. You, as a congregation, gave a lovely gift for us to use related to ICE issues that we are/were having here in Minnesota. Much of that was in our immediate neighborhood, unfortunately.

However, your lovely gift was able to be used in many impactful, necessary ways. That was so thoughtful and generous of you! Know that we truly appreciate it from the bottom of our hearts here at Plymouth Congregational Church!

Continue to do the good work - you are very good at it!

Sincerely,
David Langemo

CONTEMPLATIVE HOUR

"Music in the Sanctuary" is changing its name. Going forward, it will be called "Contemplation Hour." Contemplation Hour is a time to unwind and take a time out from your daily routine with meditative music. Attendees are invited to stay after for tea and conversation should they choose.

April Dates/Times will be:

Monday, April 13, 2 - 4 pm

Monday, April 27, 2-4 pm

CELEBRATE OUR EARTH

Ramona Kime, Social and Environmental Justice Team

The Social and Environmental Justice Team has several activities planned to celebrate April's Earth Month (well, we've stretched it into May a bit this year!), and we hope you can join us!

Calling for Climate Justice

Tuesday, April 7th; 8:00 to 8:30 PM (virtual)

The Michigan Interfaith Power & Light, of which our church is a member, hosts monthly Calling for Climate Justice calls. It only takes 30 minutes: We have an expert on the topic talk to us for about 10-15 minutes, then we mute our computer to make calls to our elected officials, with given scripts and phone numbers, and then we reconvene with others on the call to debrief and share our experience. (Ramona is our church's representative in the Capital Area Chapter, and she's on the state-wide planning committee for the Calling for Climate Justice calls, so if you have any questions, reach out to her.)

For the April call, we will be calling our federal legislators to request that they do what they can to stop the war in Iran and to tell them about the horrible environmental effects (in addition to the horrible cost in human lives) that the war is having, not only in Iran but around the world.

Church-Wide Neighborhood Clean Up

Saturday, April 11th; 10 AM to 11 AM

Meet by the Annex front door

This is when we do our part to clean up “our little part of the world”—that is, the neighborhood around our church. Bring some gloves and a grabber if you have one. Bags will be provided.

Earth Sunday Celebration

Sunday, May 3rd; 10 AM; sanctuary

Our Sunday church service will be focused on taking care of our Earth, celebrating the beauty of the Earth, and learning about ways we can help.

Environmental film showing

Sunday, May 3rd; 11:30 AM; sanctuary

We'll be showing a short (35 min) film about the negative environmental impacts of the quickly growing data center boom. Data centers are being built at a great speed, quicker than studies can be done to assess the impact and quicker than policies can be put in place, and, unfortunately, the environment and people are paying the price. There's no question that AI and data centers are here to stay, and they provide an important part of our increasingly technological culture, but what policies could be put into place that will mitigate some of the environmental damage?

Two brilliant computer scientists, Matt Slot and Le Nguyen, Deanna Rendel's son, will join in our discussion after the film and share some of their thoughts.

DESSERT AUCTION

Caryn Hansen, with Amy Frost and Maria Davis

Bakers needed to donate goods for a worthy cause!

On Friday, April 10 at 6pm, we will be hosting the second annual Dessert Auction to benefit Eaton Clothing and Furniture Center. Auctioneer Chris Stanton will be coming out of retirement to once again reprise his role as auctioneer for this fun event.

The comically fun-loving Dottie Moore will be the Vanna White of the evening, displaying each dessert with much fan-fare.

Volunteers are needed to bake and donate special items. Please sign up on the back of the Welcome Card on Sunday or contact Amy Frost frostamy58@gmail.com or by phone/text at 517-231-2941.

Eaton Clothing and Furniture Center (ECFC) serves about 450 households on a regular basis with monthly "freeshops" (opportunities to "shop" for clothing and household items at no cost to them), the August annual back to school program (new shoes for school age children), and the November annual winter warm up (new coats for all qualified school age children and new boots for elementary school age children).

Serving Eaton County residents since 1993, ECFC recently moved to their new location at 520 Robinson Street, Charlotte, Michigan, the street behind Burger King, where they continue to take donations from the public during their open hours, Wednesday to Friday 10 to 5 and Saturday 10 to 2, closed Sunday to Tuesday.

For more information about donations or their services, people can contact ECFC directly via phone or text at 517-543-4334. Texts and phone calls are answered during open hours.

BACKWARDS AND FORWARDS

Caryn Hansen

Chili Cook-off and Game Night - A night that was all about Chillin'

Sponsored by the Men's Group, the night was all about "chill" - eating chili and relaxing with friends. Larry "LT" Taylor took first place in a blind tasted test of all of the 10 chilis entered. Unbeknownst to them, Kyle Ritenburgh with Mary Normand took second place. Kyle and Mary made the chili for the Community Dinner on March 4. Leftovers were in the freezer, so Chris Reist-Rush reheated it and submitted it in the tasty lineup.

These were the only two awards given out that night, but we would like to add a few more notable awards: Hottest Chili goes to Cooper Frost and Rachel Orr; Chunkiest Chili goes to Ron Field; Most Colorful goes to Bryan and Debbie Reid; and Chris Reist-Rush gets the award for the "Most Complete Meal," with all of her various toppings.

All entries were appreciated (other donors included Don Johnson, Amy and Matt Slot, Diane Sowle, and Judi Cates). Thank you!

In addition to euchre, games played included Fire Tower, Bounce Box, and something played by Luke and Adam Slot - it was so good to see these brothers on such a CHILL evening.

Spring Feast April 12, 11:30 to 1:30

Organized by Chris Reist-Rush, volunteer opportunities available and donations appreciated. This is a free meal given to our community.

Infuse the Muse! April 24, 25, 26

This is an auction raising money for our Commons. This year, we will be hosting three concerts: June 13, Fresh Pict and Baseline Band; July 11, Community Jazz Band and (?); August 8, Open Mic and 100 Proof (Morgan Englehart's band. More details coming in the May issue of Still Speaking!
